WE NOMINATE

Five distinguished Princetonians—Ernest Gustaf Linder, George Ashmun Morton, John Turkevich, John Archibald Wheeler and Eugene Paul Wigner—who during the fortnight ahead will be playing key roles in the most important scientific conclave of the post-World War II era, the "Atoms-for-Peace Conference," which will open in Geneva, Switzerland, next Monday morning, just a decade (plus 72 hours) after the Atomic Age "dawned" over Hiroshima. Regardless of what happens at Geneva between August 8th and 20th, to Princeton—because of these men—will belong the distinction of contributing as many delegates as any one community in the Western World to a gathering that seeks to promote the "international development of nuclear energy for the benefit of all men."

While this country's recent and unexpected announcement of its plans to propel a satellite "up into outer space" during the Geophysical Year 1957-58 has dulled the news-impact of the "Second Geneva Conference," it should be noted that 84 countries were invited by the United Nations to send representatives to Geneva. In preparing for the sessions, the United States received more than 1,000 suggestions from American scientists and engineers and finally selected a 183-person delegation, including those who will deliver 35 per cent of all of the papers listed on the Geneva agenda or will participate in the discussions or will handle other conference assignments.

These Princetonians have all taught and have all won honors as research scientists. Linder, a 53-year old native of Waltham, Mass., joined RCA's research staff after having held fellowships at Cal. Tech., Iowa and Cornell. In recent years he has been largely responsible for the development of RCA's Atomic Battery, a working model of which will be demonstrated at Geneva. Morton, 52, Associate Director of Physical and Chemical Research in the Sarnoff Research Center, has over the years been especially concerned with electron tubes, infra-red, nucleonics, electron optics, television, x-ray and crystal structure. At Geneva he will discuss devices used for detecting and measuring nuclear radiation.

Wigner, Professor of Mathematical Physics in Princeton University and one of the 42 scientists present in a dim Chicago squash court when "Pile No. 31" in 1942 produced the first controlled nuclear chain reaction in history, has been associated with Princeton ever since he came to this country from his native Hungary in 1930. Wheeler, 44-year old University Professor of Physics, helped perfect the H-Bomb and last year won the ears of physicists everywhere with his discovery of the "Geon," a mathematical concept as profound as the "unified field theory" advanced by the late Albert Einstein. Turkevich, 48, son of the Primate of the Russian Orthodox Church in the U.S., ranks among the eminent physical chemists of his time and as a pioneer of new methods of laboratory research.

For helping a harassed world attain the long-sought goal of full international scientific cooperation; for understanding that nations must live together in peace, or face "mutual destruction in nuclear war;" for giving Princetonians good reason to believe that their community's motto should read, "Princeton in the World's Service;" these five scientsists are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

Topics of the Town

THE HEAT! While Princeton has been infinitely more fortunate than the great majority of communities in the State, it suffered with the rest of New Jersey through the hottest July on record. During the past month the temperature reached ninety degrees or better on 17 out of the 31 days and the average temperature was a shade above 80 degrees, the longest sustained "hot stretch" since 1887.

One measure of Princeton's good fortune is the water situation. The voluntary "system of controls," under which most Princetonians have been refraining from watering lawns and washing cars, has enabled the Water Company to conserve an estimated 1,000,000 gallons per day. In stark contrast to the relatively happy state of affairs here was the recent announcement by State Conservation Commissioner Joseph E. McLean that New Jersey is experiencing a "severe drought."

A Town Topics survey brought to light the following hot-weather phenomena:

- The proud owner of a shadeless Snowden Lane terrace reported a "noon high" of 120 degrees.
- Princeton University, battling to save campus trees, was using root-feeders to water underground where one gallon of water does the work of ten. All of the water used for this purpose was being trucked from Carnegie Lake in a 400-gallon tank cart which on its sides carried lettered signs, "This Water from Lake Carnegie."
- When queried about the weather a Princeton scientist (whose identity must be preserved until all of this blows over) referred to the work of Dr. Hideo Nishioka, at Tokyo's Kei University, who maintains that world temperatures will get hotter every year for the next 250 years.
- Public and semi-public areas, such as the shores of Carnegie Lake were littered with the modern-day harbingers of hot weather, empty soft-drink bottles and beer cans. Carnegie's level was noticeably "down," Stony Brook was trickling and the Millstone was being used for irrigation projects.
- Burned-out gardens, lawns and pastures drove home the point that July had provided less than an inch of rain and was the third driest month on record.
- In one of the hottest places in Princeton, the all-glass Architectural Laboratory near Palmer Stadium, two Princeton University architects were working on climate-balanced homes in sweltering above-100 temperatures. (See "Beat the Heat," page 10)
- Reported sales of soft drinks, beer and ice were approaching "peaks" only previously attained over the University's Spring Houseparty Weekend.

One of the Princeton Community's most beloved senior citizens—who for the past six years has brought happiness to hundreds of children in his volunteer role as Princeton's anonymous "Telephone Santa Claus" — is reluctantly asking for help.

Only because he has been unable to help himself, Henry August Schultz, who chances to be totally blind, has turned to Princeton's newspapers and to the Princeton Lions Club, askidg them to lend him a hand in finding a new home.

Because of zoning restrictions, Henry is being forced to vacate his present home and is looking for one large room, or two adjoining small rooms, somewhere near Princeton's business section. He points out that he has his own furniture and hastens to assure one and all that "I'm very capable of taking care of myself."

If you can be of assistance, or have any helpful suggestions, kindly call either TOWN TOPICS (1-2201) or Meyer Goldstein, of the Princeton Lions Club (1-0358).

Water Showdown Near Yet Far.

A preliminary report by the Legislative Commission on Water Supply was made public Wednesday, bringing action closer on the very real water problem in New Jersey. However, prospects are for a drawn-out battle before any of the proposed projects become a reality.

The report was written for the Commission by Dr. William M. Beaney of Princeton University's politics department. The major recommendations of the Commission are that the existing sources be expanded, and the so-called Chimney Rock major reservoir program be undertaken at a cost of more than $53,000,000 at the start.

Chimney Rock was considered the most feasible project in the preliminary engineer's report, while the purchase of Round Valley as long-range protection was also recommended.

Bills to effect this are due in the legislature Monday, but political maneuvering is expected to hold up action. While the public is becoming increasingly water-conscious, because of scorched lawns, ruined crops, and statements that New Jersey's worst drought in history may be in progress, the reservoir issue is expected to remain a political football for some time.

It is understood that the Democrats, seeking to show at election-time that the GOP legislative majority has done nothing toward solving the water problem, may try to delay action a few more months. Regional interests are already on the way towards jamming a solution. There may also be a slight split among the Democrats, too.

Central Jersey groups are already fighting Round Valley in order to protect the Raritan River watershed, but may find that Chimney Rock will draw even more water from the Raritan area, a likely expansion-joint for Princeton. Water-wise, Princeton appears to be safe for the moment, but the continuing development of the area may eventually over-tax Princeton's water sources, creating a problem such as that faced in other parts of the state.

"Month of Decision." July, 1955, has gone into the records as a "month of decision" for the Borough of Princeton's Board of Adjustment for the Zoning Ordinance.

At its July meeting the "Zoning Board" approved Princeton Hospital's request to convert "Merwick," the Bayard Lane residence of the late Bishop Paul Matthews, into a nursing home and then recommended to Mayor and Council approval of the Theological Seminary's plans to erect the long-contemplated, $1,500,000 Speer Library on the section of the campus bounded by Mercer and Stockton Streets, Library Place and the Swann Estate (Borough Hall).

"Merwick," the gift to the Hospital of Thomas Matthews in memory of his mother, Elsie Procter Matthews, will become the first long-term nursing facility of its kind in New Jersey and in the words of Hospital President John H. Wallace Jr. could well become a national model for other hospitals seeking the solution to "one of our most pressing medical problems, the care of the convalescent patient, the aged and the chronically ill."

These were among the highlights of the Hospital's "case" which was presented by Albridge C. Smith 3d, a member of the Board of Trustees, Administrator John W. Kauffman and Dr. William J. Welch:

- "Merwick" will be operated as an adjunct division of the Hospital, not as a separate facility.
- The addition of a two-story wing with basement floor area to the present three-story structure will provide a potential capacity of 42 patients.
- The size of the plot, approximately eight acres, insures compliance with all provisions of the Zoning Ordinance.
- The Hospital's plans for "Merwick," based upon a series of far-reaching surveys, have been enthusiastically approved by "outside" medical authorities,

No Tampering!

Borough Officials have requested that all residents refrain from using the new telephone alarm fire boxes until the system is put into operation around September 1. They are locked and "are not to be tampered with."

Installation of all boxes for the new system will be completed in about a week. There will be four new boxes in addition to the present 26 alarm locations. The receiving switchboard and power system in Borough Hall have been completed.

The new system will allow direct communication between authorities and persons reporting fires, permitting immediate location of fires and also serving as a deterrent to false alarms. Another feature will permit firemen to receive instructions directly from Borough Hall.

It's New to Us

Drink to the Bottom. When you were a child, did you have one of those milk mugs with Mother Goose painted on the bottom, so you'd drink all your milk just to see the picture? An adult, somewhat modified version of this idea eppears in some new glassware at The Town Shop, 67 Palmer Square West.

"Surf"—that's the name of the new glasses. They are designed by Jean Luce in a gentle barrel shape. The bottoms are sham, with hundreds of small bubbles blown into the glass and left there, lying on the bottom like a cooling fizz of your drink. You can see them when the glass is full because it's clear crystal, but you're not quite sure whether they're part of drink or glass until you've finished.

Town Shop stocks "Surf" in highball, cocktail, single and double old-fashioned sizes. There are many crystal pitchers from which to pour a drink into a Surf glass—but they're not Surf pattern, just clear and cool as a stream.

For good solid food to provide ballast, Town Shop has cheese trays in considerable number. We liked an oblong wooden one with a striking light grain running its length, like a fashionable woman with a blond streak in her hair. The handles are wedge shaped, touched with brass. Another tray is square with a white floral tile in its center and a shallow scooped-out portion at the edge to hold whatever you want to put in it.

Hostess gifts that are original are sometimes hard to find. The Town Shop suggests a pair of straw sandals, made in the Philippines. They are scuffs with one-inch wedge heels and a finer, softer straw on the inside where the foot goes. Outside, they are rough straw in green, red, or pink, lavishly decorated with sequin designs.

Free Heat. As the ad says, "Heat is free now, but . . ." At the moment, when heat is all too free, it may be difficult to project yourself ahead to January when the basement, garage, attic or spare bedroom is full of chilblains. But the makers of the Hoskinson Freeheater suggest that you listen to the story of their unique appliance and install one yourself now before heat is something you want, instead of something you try to get rid of.

A Freeheater's purpose is to capture the heat that is normally wasted as it goes out your chimney. You install a core in the flue, the heat that normally goes up the stack is converted into clean air, a blower forces this hot air through ducts into the rooms you want to heat.

If the temperature that enters the Freeheater core is 750 degrees, the core can reclaim 460 degrees at 120 cubic feet per minute, so that the final temperature of the gasses that get out the chimney is only 350. This reclaimed 460 degrees can be used to heat a basement, an attic, or any room in between. Duct work can be extended up to 50 feet.

The Freeheater uses no fuel—only the waste heat that is headed for the outdoors. Appearently it works best on oil furnaces because smoke-pipe tenperatures are high in these, but it will work on stoker-fired heating plants if the chimney temperature is high enough.

Here in Princeton the Hoskinson Freehenter may be installed now without a down payment. The local dealer is Gene H. Keller, telephone 1-1933-J-2.

Glamour, Beauty - No Problems. The people who think up cosmetic gimmicks figured out that you can save up to 47% if you invest in Helena Rubenstein's 10 Beauty Pairs, now offered through August at Thorne's Drug Store, 168 Nassau.

First, Rubenstein offers products for dry skin, coarse pores, age lines and blackheads (how're you feeling?). Then she turns to glamour make-up for flawless skin, face and cheeks, eyes, beautiful hair, body freshness and fragrance. (Feeling better?) Buy any two of these products, let's say Color-Tone Shampoo and Headliner hair conditioner, and you'll get them for less than their combination value. The two we mentioned above, for example, would ordinarily sell for $1.75. In this sale, you get them for $1.25. On waterproof mascara and the eye-cream special, you may have both for $1.10 instead of $2.10.

Coty presents a new polish (Super Sheer, that matches lipstick, in such shades as "Precious Pink" all the way down the color scale to "Magnet Red." Twelve shades to choose from, with lipstick and polish together for $1.05 instead of the usual $1.85.

Over in the toy department at Thorne's, we found inexpensive toys to fill in the late summer gaps that widen for the young at

A resident of Princeton since 1904, he was a member of the Princeton Y.M.C.A., the First Baptist Church, the New Jersey State Association of Elks, and Khufu Temple 120 and many other service organizations. In addition, he was an honorary citizen of Boys' Town, Nebraska.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Virginia Mills; a sister, Mrs. Emma Williams; and a brother, Leslie Mills of Brooklyn, N. Y. His funeral was held on Tuesday with Rev. Dr. William Parker of the First Baptist Church officiating.

Francis P. Kane, 51, a native of Princeton who lived at 149 West 12th Street, New York, died on July 29 in Palmyra, N. Y. He was managing editor of "Bus Transportation," a McGraw - Hill publication.

Mr. Kane, who received his newspaper training in Princeton, is survived by two brothers, Maurice B. Kane, of Englewood, and Walter T. Kane, of Demarest; a sister, Mrs. Irene M. Latta, of Palmyra, N. Y.; and several nieces and nephews. His funeral was held on August 3 from the Kimble Funeral Home.

Mrs. Margaret Rochelle Levy, 65, died last Friday at the Spring Lake Heights Hospital. Mrs. Levy, whose funeral was held on August 2 in Trenton, was born in Princeton in 1889, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ford W. Rochelle. She was the widow of C. Harold Levy, managing editor of the old "Trenton State Gazette" for some 30 years.

Robert W. Clayton, 75, of 126 John Street, died on July 28 in Princeton Hospital. A member of the Rod and Gun Club, his funeral was held on Monday from the Kimble Funeral Home. The Rev. H. Martin P. Davidson, of Trinity Episcopal Church, officiated.

Henry Hillpot, 69, of Cherry Valley Road, died July 28 in Donnelly Memorial Hospital, Trenton. A native of Tinicum, Pa., he lived in Princeton for 50 years and is survived by two daughters, three brothers and three sisters. Mr. Hillpot's funeral was held on August 2 under the direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Frank M. Hollins Jr., 39, of 100 Pingree Avenue, Trenton, died on July 31 in McKinley Hospital, Trenton. He was a partner in Hoagland and Hollins, Inc., and Manning's Wayside Furniture Shop. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated August 4 at the Church of the Incarceration, Trenton.

Mrs. Arthur A. Larking, 76, of 106 Alexander Street, died at her home on July 30. A native of Baltimore, she is survived by her husband, Arthur Larking; a son, Courtland Hottin, of New York City, and a niece, Miss Dorothy A. Rockhill, of Princeton.

Dr. Herbert F. Sill, 73, a former resident of Park Place in Princeton, died August 1 in Cranbury. A Princeton graduate with the class of 1897, he was professor of chemistry at Carnegie Institute of Technology and later a consulting chemist. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Josephine Bray Sill, and a daughter.

hospital architects, the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, the Hospital's department heads and the advisory committee of the Hospital's medical staff.

● While most of the accessory buildings on the tract will be used only in connection with the maintenance and care of "Merwick," the Women's Auxiliary of the Hospital has expressed interest in retaining the existing greenhouse for therapy work with patients capable of such activity.

● To some extent "Merwick" by accommodating patients in need of post-hospital convalescent care will enable the Hospital to release bed-space to others more seriously ill.

In the "Seminary Case," it is highly probable that the Zoning Board's referral to the Mayor and Council (the route of action it followed in handling the variances requested by St. Paul's Church) will ring down the curtain on a four-year series of petitions and counter-petitions, announcements and counter-announcements, and will permit the Seminary to proceed with the construction of a desperately-needed facility.

The Seminary's architects, in documenting their quest for what now amounts to a "rearyard exception," submitted a four-page letter which included this paragraph: "Failure to grant the exception will, in our opinion, cause virtual abandonment by the Seminary of the Speer Library project. Abandonment of the project on this site after 4 years effort, we submit, is an exceptional hardship."

At Thursday evening's meeting no mention was made of the Seminary's 76-year old Lenox Library, an "architectural gem" to many observers of the passing scene, that will apparently be razed—if and when the Seminary, the country's oldest and largest Presbyterian seminary, receives permission to move ahead with a 400,000-volume library.

Township Meeting. The August session of the Township Committee will be held on schedule Monday at 8 in Township Hall. There had been some talk of cancellation because of traditional August vacations.

Township Clerk Joseph Nini reported that while Monday's agenda will be limited, an effort will be made to complete committee-action on the important "multiple improvements ordinance" which affects Hillcrest, Laurel, Mansgrove, Mt Lucas, Erdman, Hilltop and other roads.

Questions of how the assessments should be divided in the $28,000 project have held up final passage of the measure. The proposed "swimming pool fence" ordinance will not be discussed until September, however.

Borough Meeting August 15. The August session of the Borough Council will be put over to Monday, August 15, in order to coincide with the vacation schedules of the Mayor and council members. Action on the Seminary library (see elsewhere) is the most important item on the agenda reported to date.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

"Wedding Breakfast," the Theodore Reeves comedy, (see below) will hold forth at the Bucks County Playhouse over in New Hope through next Saturday, August 13. There are Wednesday and Saturday matinees at 2 in addition to nightly performances (except Sunday). Ticket demand for the second week is reported high.

A fire in the theatre at Sacandaga Lake has had effect at the Bucks Playhouse, too. "A Palm Tree in a Rose Garden" was scheduled for a pre-Broadway showing at Sacandaga, but will play in New Hope for a week starting August 15. It replaces "A Wayward Kiss," also a new play, which will be produced in September.

Jose Quintero will direct "Palm Tree," a comedy by Meade Jackson. Joan Blondell will be starred and the cast will include Alice Ghostley, Barbara Baxley, George Voskovec and Betty Lou Holland.

"Wedding Breakfast:" Sentimental Dish. It is hard to speak out against the current production of "Wedding Breakfast" at New Hope, for if you miss it, you will also miss a superb performance by Walter Matthau.

Mr. Matthau plays Norman, a deeply-appealing L.C.D. of the bourgeoisie, with wonderful skill. He stands well above a good four-member cast with a great performance which combines vocal quality, timing and pace with wonderful use of his face and body. The impact of his performance increases at an amazing rate as the play progresses.

The other members of the cast were not as sure opening night, though Mary McCarty (a late replacement) winds up with a highly creditable performance as Ruth, partner to Norman. By now, Patricia Englund will probably have smoothed out a few rough spots in acting the sophisticated" sister Stella. This corner was a bit puzzled by the sharp work of Jack Cassidy, though probably because he is playing a rather confusing protagonist in Ralph.

The production was generally well-handled on the small stage with a double Broderick Hackett set. Direction by Aaron Frankel was sensitive and the comedy moved along in a way that covered up for what appeared to be flaws of loose construction. Such problems can be omitted here in favor of some remarks about content.

There are some rotten eggs served with "Wedding Breakfast." They are concealed beneath a warm, human, often amusing surface.

Mr. Reeves' thinking is sentimental at the core. Sentiment indeed has its place, and the author has a real feeling for "little people," the "nobodies." But surely, the Age of Marty is at hand. In Mr. Reeves' world, apparently, the "nobodies" are better than the "somebodies," just because they are "nobodies."

To scorn "little people" is to scorn part of one's self, regardless of human station. But to put the inarticulate, platitudinous, stumbling, though "heart of gold" types at the head of one's human order is to get matters upside down.

Mr. Reeves has an insidious stratagem for hiding what he is doing. He misrepresents and then attacks the life of the mind. We might call this his rotten egghead. It enables him to put his "nobodies" in the emotionally popular position.

Stella, his "sophisticate," his apostle of culture, is nothing more than a fraudulent betrayal of the goal of wisdom and culture. The world might as well be ruled by the boobs, if to be intellectual is only to "go to cocktail

On and Off Stage

Along with the juggling of theatrical groups in Princeton's Murray Theatre, St. John Terrell's Music Circus has added to the confusion by a rapid shift which cancelled the third week for "South Pacific" and reinstated the production of Noel Coward's "After the Ball" for this week.

In addition, Producer Michael Ellis of the Bucks County Playhouse has pulled "The Wayward Kiss" until September and will replace it with Joan Blondell in "A Palm Tree in a Rose Garden" for the August 15-20 run.

Locally, the Community Players have moved out of the Murray and Buskins and Socks have moved in for their production of "Ten Little Indians" starting this Monday. See elsewhere in this column under respective headings for full details.

"Operation Witherspoon." Extensive remodeling of one of Princeton's largest commercial buildings, the Benson Building (formerly known as the Branch Building) is now under way. The structure at the corner of Witherspoon and Spring Streets was purchased by Lawrence E. Benson last February.

The major change now taking place involves the redesigning of the front in Georgian-Colonial manner, similar in appearance to that used throughout Palmer Square and recommended by "Operation Nassau" for the restoration of Princeton business buildings. Lewis C. Bowers and Sons are the architects and builders for the project.

Additional plans are in the drawing-board stage "to make the building a fine office and business structure," according to Mr. Benson. Plans call for making more office space available in the building. Most street level space will continue to be leased for stores, although the renovated space at 29 Witherspoon has been leased as the Christian Science Reading Room of Princeton.

The second floor is now occupied by business offices, while the third floor is the headquarters for Benson & Benson, Inc., the market and opinion research firm headed by Mr. Benson.

At the time he purchased the building, Mr. Benson expressed interest in an "Operation Witherspoon" to be coordinated with "Operation Nassau" in encouraging improvement in the appearance of present buildings on the street and the business district as a whole.

Court Action. Speeding on Borough streets was an expensive violation for a number of drivers this week in court. Local motorists fined included Junius B. Reynolds, 69 Patton Avenue, $20; Lloyd Asa Opdycke, Mather Avenue, Penns Neck, $15, and Alexander P. Trolchuk, Coppermine Road, $20.

Hoyt E. Ellis, Alexander Road, was fined $15 by Magistrate Chesebro for an illegal muffler on his car. Robert T. Wallace, 21 Palmer Square, paid a $7 fine for going through a "stop" sign.

James Golden, 7 Chestnut Street, paid $5 court costs and received a suspended sentence of three months in the county workhouse on a charge of striking his wife. He entered a plea of not guilty.

Rodney Kidd, 21½ Jackson Street, and Carl Banks, 1 Margerum Court, each received suspended fines of $10. They were charged with using loud and profane language while being questioned by an officer.

Jaycees Work For G.O.C. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce announced this week that it will campaign in the fall to help raise funds for the proposed new observation post for the Princeton Ground Observer Corps.

"The work of the G.O.C. is extremely valuable, and we are proud of Princeton's outstanding record in keeping its post manned without interruption for over three years," Leonard F. Newton, president of the Jaycees, said in announcing the campaign. The present quarters of the G.O.C. is a small former tool shed on the Springdale golf course, donated by Lewis C. Bowers and Sons when "Operation Skywatch" began in July, 1952.

The present shack has proved a problem for the more than 200 volunteers who are serving as plane-spotters, as it is extremely cold in winter and affords poor visibility. The G.O.C. Building Comittee is now studying several new post designs, all of which feature wide sloping windows on four sides.

At present, the G.O.C. has received less than a tenth of the funds necessary to build the proposed shelter. Contributors of more than $25 to the campaign, conducted under the supervision of Harry Allwine, chairman of the G.O.C. building committee, are Mr. and Mrs. William T. White, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Babcock, Saks Fifth Avenue and the Arthur J. Turney Motor Company.

Good News

The burdens imposed by midsummer heat were lightened this week with the announcements by the Health Officers of the Borough and Township, David Blake and Dr. William Kleinberg, respectively, that the past week in the Princeton Community had been without a new case of polio. To date, only one case of polio has been reported in and around Princeton.

parties and talk about ideas."

Mr. Reeves' concluding sentimentality is to cut Stella down to the size of a small business man's wife doomed to cutting out recipes in upstate New York. It is a finale worthy of the most maudlin soap opera or Hollywood boy-gets-girl, though not as skillfully handled, incidentally.

The above objections outweigh, to this department, the appeal of Norman and Ruthie, the appeal of simple people whose milieu is materialistic, but whose good hearts will overcome all (it says in the play). "Wedding Breakfast" will be very popular regardless.

But when the idea of the dignity of man is so twisted that sentimentality rules over reason and such things, take your tears to the bomb shelter and await the end of the world.

COUPLE AT BUCKS: Patricia Englund and Walter Matthau are paired as one of the two couples in "Wedding Breakfast," currently on the boards at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. Runs through Saturday, August 13.

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

With Murray Theatre occupied as noted, The Princeton Community Players are readying a second comedy for production, Moliere's famous "The Doctor in Spite of Himself." The farcical work will be presented August 22 through 27 in the Murray.

Henry Siegle will direct the production. The play will be presented in the style of the 17th century with appropriate costumes and properties. It will be performed in the direct conversational manner of Moliere's time without the use of a curtain.

The title role will be taken by Lorin Zissman, who played Grumio in the recent "Taming of the Shrew." Mary Gonzalez will play Martine, the doctor's wife. Other members of the cast are Thomas Potter, Peter Nicolls, Betty Frohling, Gray Ward, Manuel Martiniz, Bert Karen, Mary Lou Kelly and Toni Dugan, many of whom appeared in the earlier production.

Mr. Siegle has been a member of the Players for a number of years, both acting and directing. He has worked in summer productions at the McCarter and appeared for the University Players. Most recently he directed and acted in a melodrama, "The Ruse That Failed," produced by Miss Dugan at the New Hope Street Fair.

Tom Everett's orchestra will play for dancing from 4 until 8 and a professional accordionist from New York will also entertain. There will be a dance contest. An elaborate menu is planned, featuring such dishes as sausage and peppers on Italian rolls, clams, corn and other picnic foods.

'Beat the Heat". In the midst of summertime heat comes the encourging report that Princeton University's "architectural twins", Associate Professors Aladar ond Victor Olgyay, are demonstrating that houses can be built to withstand summer heat far more effectively and economically if they are designed to fit the climate rather than architectural custom.

Using what they term a "bioclimatic approach" to architecture, the Hungarian-born architects point out that a properly oriented house will escape twice as much summer solar heat as the average house and that by taking all of the climatic factors of a given region into account it is possible to design a dwelling which will ward off four times as much heat as the conventional house and yet will cost no more.

Under a National Science Foundation grant the Olgyays are currently working in Architectural Laboratory to compress all of the significant factors of climate (shading, temperature, radiation, air movement, humidity, etc.) into a single index which will express the architectural requirements for making any building more comfortable throughout the year in any climate.

This long forward step in architecture will be taken with the help of a machine known as a Thermohelidon that the Olgyays are now building in collaboration with Professor Alfred E. Sorenson, of the Department of Mechanical Engineering. Scheduled for fall completion, this device will enable them to test building models, and their relative comfort in any given climatic region from the Arctic Zone to Equatorial Africa.

The Thermohelidon has a heat-light source, corresponding to the sun, which describes an arc comparable to any given latitude any time of the year as it moves outside the machine's dome of clear plastic, six feet in diameter. Beneath the dome is the experimental area where building models, one-twelfth natural size, are placed. Mechanical devices create and control heat, cold and wind effects inside the dome, while all of the varying climatic conditions are recorded electrically.

The comfort zone, the Olgyays point out, can be depicted as roughly between 70 and 80 degrees, depending on the climate variables. These variables can be charted to show the amount of radiation, winds and shading needed to bring conditions inside the model into the comfort zone for any hour or day of the year in a "temperate region" such as Princeton, a hot-humid region like New Orleans, La., or a hot-arid area like Phoenix, Ariz.

Such data serve the architect as guides for determining the orientation and form of the building, the arrangement of rooms, the need for solar openings and "sun-breaking" devices, the effects of roof overhang and the choice of building materials for insulating characteristics.

The end-results of their work will mean greater comfort. However, caution the Olgyays, there is no formula for perfection, for "10 straight days in the 90's will make any house hot, no matter how well oriented or climate-balanced it might be."

Post Office Rumor. The recurrent rumor that a new Princeton post office building would be built by private capital has been laid to rest on the basis of information relayed to George A. Brakeley, President of Princeton Municipal Improvement, Inc., by U. S. Senator H. Alexander Smith.

Mr. Brakeley, whose company donated the land on which the 21-year old Palmer Square Post Office stands, informed Senator Smith of the "building rumors". The Senator in turn contacted the Post Office Department and learned that the Department has no immediate plans for adding to its physical facilities in Princeton.

The letter from William H. Townsend, Acting Assistant Postmaster General, stated in part:

"The records here disclose that this time of summer-time. Buy a $1 rubber horseshoe set to take on your next picnic. It has four shoes, and is gentle enough to throw indoors on a rainy day. Pinky Lee has a paint set for $1, too. Spanish Darts, also in the $1 field, offers a compliant bull who lets you throw darts into his flanks.

For $1.89 you may have a plastic torpedo boat, for $1.98 a plastic racing boat, both of which run when you wind them up. Younger guests, or members of the family, will be entertained with Child Guidance toys like the Turn-A-Gear, Bild-A-Blok, Time-A-Clok, Kittie on the Keys. Similar toys are offered in the Right-Time line, serving the young from three months to about seven years, and providing enough toys to give mother a full day in the hammock with a book.

"Caerilon," Pickard is a fine china, similar to Lenox, and designed with extreme restraint. The reticence in design, however, spills over when it comes to naming the designs. When you examine Pickard china at The Cummins Shop, 96 Nassau, you'll find patterns with such names as "Caerilon," "Avena," "Cossamer" and—a prosaic one that slipped by the promotion department—"Tomorrow."

"Cossamer" is a pale grey with platinum edge, coupe shape and a tracery of design in white and silver that looks like a fine puff of down. "Tomorrow" is a small, centered modern design in grey and black. Collectors who prefer the conventional standard shape with rim and shoulder to the coupe form, will like "Caerilon." This is exquisite, formal china, to be acquired over the years and used for special dinners. It is sturdy, of course, as all first-rate china is.

The ironstone pieces Cummins had earlier in the spring have been joined by a tea set consisting of large tea pot, creamer and sugar, all for $8.75. A tray, converted from those old bureau trays, goes with it for $3.50 more. White ironstone pitchers are shaped rather like the old silver ones, and are priced in $2, $3 and $4 sizes. Compotes are gracefully fluted, molded like the pitchers to resemble silver pieces.

Cummins has, from Italy, some pottery dishes made like leaves. Take a relish dish, for example. It's a leaf with a knob of fruit at its stem for a handle. A matching cake plate is sectional in design, and there's a large plate 14 inches in diameter with a fixed covered bowl in its center.

"OLD TIMERS" LOSE: Youth was served on Brokaw Field Saturday evening as the present Princeton Athletic Club baseball team downed an All-Star team of "Old-Timers," 3-2, with an unearned run in the sixth inning. Manager Chick Davis of the P.A.C. scored the tie-breaker as he walked, stole second and came home on a two-base error on winning pitcher Bruce Dennen's grounder. Members of the "Old-Timers" include (left to right), Rear, Buck Cupples, James Jackson and Herman English; Second Row, George Sickl, Jack Petrone, Tom Brophy, Ted Drake and Tom Fricl; Front Row, Bill Murphy, Joe Friel, Van Skillman, Mascot Bill Skillman, Jim Brown, Warren Hoff, Jim Carter.

Court Champions. Two newcomers to Princeton's Red Feather tennis competition, Dr. H. Y. Tyler and Irwin Vas, carried off the men's doubles championship by turning back Ken Wilson, the singles king-pin, and John Chandler, junior champion, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-2. Tyler and Vas conquered Stan Smoyer and Caryl Bigelow, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4, in their semi-final match, while Wilson and Chandler downed Dr. Frederick Raubinger (New Jersey's Commission of Education) and Ed Meara 3d by identical scores.

This week 16 teams are competing for the Mixed Doubles' title. Mrs. Pepper (Betty) Constable, and Manning Brown have been ranked at the top of a draw which promises to produce some of the most interesting tennis of Princeton's 1955 season.

"The Big Inning." By making the most of a tactic popularized in yesteryear by another front-running club, the New York Yankees, the Princeton Athletic Club continued to dominate the Bi-County League and upped its standing to a gaudy 9-2 by pulverizing Hopewell, 13-4. The story was written almost before the game started, for the P.A.C. collected six runs in the first inning and coasted to victory behind Chick Davis' four-hit pitching.

The big blows in the "momentous first" were home runs by Walt Wells (his fifth of the season) and the versatile Bruce Dennen. Before the game had run its course, the victors had collected ten hits, eight of them for extra bases. Bob Foster contributed a triple, Davis a triple and Bob Dennen a sacks-loaded double in the fourth which produced three more runs.

Apparently restless in their own circuit, the Princetonians took on two non-league opponents last week, the Princeton "Old Timers" (see picture above) and Ewing Township. In the latter engagement Charlie Perpetua was credited with the triumph after his team-mates turned a 4-2 deficit into a thrilling 5-4 win on the strength of Bob Dennen's fifth-inning double with two men on base.

No. 1 Out in Front. Princeton Engine Company No. 1 found the perfect baseball combination last week—lusty hitting and superlative hurling by Tom Collins. Consequently, No. 1 whipped Hook and Ladder, 4-2, and scored its ninth successive victory in its section of the Firemen's League. Offensive highlights included Jim Wheeler's home run and two hits apiece for Van Skillman and Bill Murphy.

In other League action Mercer Engine Company No. 3 walloped Lawrenceville, 10-1. Belle Meade continued to cling to first place in Section II, two games out in front, and trailed in order by Hopewell, Kingston, Skillman and Blawenburg.

Pennant Race. The title in Princeton's Junior Baseball League will in all probability be decided next Tuesday when two well balanced arrays of youngers, representing Matthews and L. C. Bowers, clash on Brokaw Field. The league-leading Bowers squad was an odds-on favorite to carry off top honors until it sustained its first defeat of the season last week—at the hands of a fired-up Matthews nine.

In upsetting Bowers, 4-1, the Matthews combination capitalized upon Dave Blydenburg's two-hit pitching and a three-run fifth inning highlighted by Dick Borger's triple with two men on base. The losing hurler was Nick Kovalakides, who also yielded two hits, one of which was the game-winning triple.

The current league standings show seven wins and one loss for Bowers, six victories and two setbacks for Matthews. The other two teams in the loop, Nassau Oil and Mercer Floor Sanding, possess 2-6 and 1-7 marks, respectively

"Professor Cappon." Franklin C. (Cappy) Cappon, dean of Ivy League basketball coaches and nationally known for his quintets' "gorrison finishes," will be a member of the faculty next week at Adelphi College's (Garden City, N. Y.) Fourth Annual Basketball Coaching School for high school and college coaches.

Now in his 18th year as Nassau's head coach, Cappon has been recognized for the past quarter-century as one of the country's foremost students of basketball. Since succeeding R. Kenneth Fairman, Director of Princeton Athletics, as court coach, his squads have won 168 out of 306 games for an overall winning percentage of .549.

Announcements from Adelphi emphasize that Cappon, whose team annexed the Ivy League crown last winter after concluding its regular-season compaign in an unprecedented three-way tie with Columbia and Pennsylvania, "is the coach Ivy Leaguers look up to."

"Much of Cappon's applied strategy," Adelphi points out, is "now standard procedure, not only within his own group, but also with many of the nation's cage leaders. He is particularly well schooled in the single and double pivot, the press and the zone. The move now under consideration to outlaw the zone in college basketball will undoubtedly draw Cappon's wrath when it comes up for discussion at the Adelphi Coaching School's panel discussion."

To all this, Cappon's comment was, "We play games as they are scheduled."

"Sailing Mayor." The Borough's Chief Executive, P. MacKay Sturges, is earning headlines this week with his adroit handling of his 46-foot sloop, "Sapphire," an integral part of the New York Yacht Club's cruising squadron that is now participating in the nation's oldest sailing organization's annual cruise.

On the first leg of the N. Y. Club's junket, which over the weekend will carry them into New England waters, Mayor Sturges' craft finished second in its 11-boat division, a scant two seconds out of first place and a solid second on the basis of what yachtsmen call "corrected time."

To Sturges and his crew went accolades for performing so well in what veteran observers called "a rugged test of a yacht's weatherliness and its crew's ability to drive her through head winds and seas."

McCreedy Triumphs. Huck McCreedy hurled a sparkling three-hitter to turn back the Eagles 2-1, and keep the Nassau Social Club in first place in the Community Softball Men's League play last week.

Gene Pierre had a perfect day for the N. S. C., as they could only notch five hits off Eagle hurler Paul Parisot. One of the three bingles McCreedy allowed was Bob Traegler's triple, which scored Bud Cavanaugh with the Eagles' lone tally.

The Artistic Clippers received one-hit hurling from Tom Collins as they bested R.C.A., 14-1, putting together a 15-hit attack, paced by Jack Rhubart with a home run, double and single. Paul Cuomo singled in the fourth for the only hit off Collins, as the Clippers remained one game off the N.S.C. pace.

Sam Lisl took another victory for the Sunbeam Electric nine, downing Frazee, 5-3. The Sunbeam outfit was outhit, 4-8, but made their hits count for more as Lisl stifled several threats with his outstanding hurling.

Catcher Bob Bell smacked out three hits in four at bats to lead the Applied Science team to a 15-2 victory over the Jokers. Ralph Procaccino, the losing hurler, accounted for both Joker runs when he slammed a triple with two team-mates on base.

Three-Way Tie Among Girls. Montgomery Township banged out a 10-6 victory over the West Windsor Township Lions last week to throw the Eagles' Community Girls' Softball League into a three-way tie.

Esther Musselman held the Lions to seven hits as she hurled all the way to notch the team's tenth triumph in 12 starts. West Windsor is now tied with the Lions and Gregory Buick for top spot in the league.

Dot Moore struck out seven and held Hopewell to four hits as Gregory maintained its pace, winning 15-3. Miss Moore also pounded out three hits, including a home run, out of the nine's total of 15. Princeton Circle Esso and E.T.S. were idle during the week.

On the Way. David Smoyer, 13-year-old son of the tennis-playing Stanley Smoyers, 86 Olden Lane, will be winning his spurs this weekend in San Antonio, Texas, where he will be taking part in the Boys' Division of the National Jaycee (Junior Chamber of Commerce) Junior Tennis Tournament.

Smoyer, runner-up in the Jaycee-sponsored state-wide tourney held here on the University's Church Courts early in July, will be one of the 200 participants in the five-day tournament and one of the four Jerseyites on hand.

the Main Post Office in Princeton is housed in a government owned building having originally been occupied under date of December 18, 1934.

"It is further shown that in order to improve physical facilities in Princeton and to relieve the congestion in the Federal Building, the Department entered into a lease for a Parcel Post Annex. This facility is situated on the south side of University Place between the Pennsylvania Railroad and Alexander Street. The lease is for a term of 15 years from December 4, 1954, with option for an additional period of five years. The lease is non-cancellable during the basic term of 15 years.

"'In view of the foregoing, the Department has no immediate plans looking to the erection of a new post office building in Princeton with private capital."

Scholarship - Winners. Three outstanding members of the Princeton High School Class of 1955 have received honor scholarship awards from the college they will be entering next month.

Roger J. O'Kane, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger J. O'Kane, 294 Alexander Street has been awarded a Dartmouth College scholarship. As a high school senior O'Kane presided over the Student Council and earned the Honor Award for Meritorious Service.

The University of Pennsylvania has conferred Freshman Competive Scholarships upon Lois A. Ellis, daughter of Mrs. Dorothea K. Ellis, Alexander Road, Princeton Junction, and Richard H. Wood Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wood, 35 Maple Street. Miss Ellis will study in the Liberal Arts College for Women, while Wood will be enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

New Appointment. Dr. Franklin P. Kilpatrick, Assistant Professor of Psychology in Princeton University, has resigned from the University Faculty to assume direction of the Research Department of the Philadelphia, Pa., firm of National Analysts, Inc.

Co-director with Professor Hadley Cantril of a Navy-sponsored program of research in perception, Dr. Kilpatrick has also been associated with the University's Office of Public Opinion Research, which contains the most complete archives of public opinion survey data in existence. He is a member of the Scientific Research Committee of the Institute of Associated Research at Hanover, N. H.

"Big Bizness" One of the youngest newcomers to the ranks of Princeton businessmen is 14-year old Dennis D. Smith who has opened "Dennis's Store" on the Princeton-Kingston Road. Prior to his opening, the proprietor, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kendall Smith, forwarded a typewritten copy of what he terms the "Deed of Rights of Dennis's Store."

As a possible guide for others who might be contemplating new business ventures, the "Deed of Rights" is herewith published in full:

"Dennis D. Smith, now called Boss has all the rights to hire and fire his employees, that he has (if any). The store which is located at some place near the road, will sell to people Blackberries, at 25 cents a pint.

"If there are any employees that Dennis hired, they shall be given a small profit of what money comes in. The ones that shall work for Dennis will do some odd jobs as; doing the store work as; running the store for an hour or so. They will also do the job as a clerk and receive the money for the things that he sold.

"If any one is caught stealing money, or wrecked the store property he will return the stolen money and will also loose his job as a worker, and will be hevily fined. The employees will also pick berries to sell, we will obtain empty pint boxes from some A. & P. stores or other stores.

Thus, putting an end to my Deed, I, Dennis wish to give all my wishes to a big hope in business.

The End."

MERCER COUNTY'S RESOURCES

(EDITOR'S NOTE: "Resources Survey of Mercer County, N. J.," a new 128-page publication prepared by the Mercer County Industrial Commission, is dedicated to the late Freeholder Edward A. Thorne in recognition of his "outstanding leadership of the affairs of the Mercer County Commission" that seeks to attract new industry to the County. Freeholder Thorne died here June 6th while the book was on the press. The following paragraphs summarize sections of the report, one of the first publications of its kind in New Jersey.)

Highlights of Survey. "A definitely superior spot for successful manufacturing" is the conclusion of the Mercer County Board of Freeholders, based on a new book which summarizes the assets of the county and was prepared to advance the county's industrial development program.

The study was planned, developed and written jointly by Fred W. Goodwin, public relations and research director of the Mercer County Industrial Commission, and Dr. David Mars, instructor in government at the University of Connecticut.

The book was received by Freeholder Frank J. Black, director of the Board of Freeholders and now director of the Industrial Commission, on behalf of the board. A number of the major "selling points" for industrial location and expansion follow.

Industrial History: Location at the head of navigable waters of the Delaware River has made the area now known as Mercer County a busy crossroads for trade and industry since Colonial days.

Growth has been steady and the variety of manufacture has kept up with the national pace, while many firms have been established in the area for well over a half-century. The 7,741 industrial workers of the 1880 census compare with an estimated 42,000 today.

Geography: "Few other counties in the United States can boast of having so many people within such a small radius. Mercer's strategic location enables it to reach more people quickly than perhaps any other county in the United States." Nearness to metropolitan cultural, educational, recreational and medical facilities are noted along with the state's own recreational facilities. The Delaware River is listed as an extremely valuable natural resource and the overall water supply "abundant".

Population: The current rate of population increase in Mercer is somewhat above the state figure. While it ranked 108th among American counties in population, it has climbed to 93rd in the nation in three years. Estimated current population is 255,000, while the forecast is for 305,000 by 1960.

Labor: Mercer County has a large labor force with widely diversified skills and drawn from a large area. The county is well above the state average for industrial employment.

Labor skills which may be found include nine major industry groupings—primary metals, fabricated metal products, aircraft and shipbuilding, pottery, non-electrical machinery, electrical goods and machines, chemicals, rubber and textiles, plus a large variety of other classifications.

Markets: "There is no more fabulous market than the populous Eastern seaboard."

Transportation: Mercer County is a "vital hub of transportation and distribution, with superb rail and highway transportation facilities". The main trunk lines of the Pennsylvania and Reading railroads run through the county, while U. S. 1, other major national and state highways, the New Jersey Turnpike and the Trenton Freeway serve the area.

The opportunity for low-cost water transportation has been opened by Congressional approval of a deepwater channel from Philadelphia to Trenton. The Mercer County Airport is now in operation for regularly scheduled passenger service.

Taxation and Finance: The state levies no individual, corporate or excise taxes, and there is no general retail sales tax. In addition, the state does not levy a stamp tax on the transfer of corporate shares.

Government services on the local level are of a high standard. Per capita property tax and ratio of debt, both of municipal and county governments, are well below the average in the state. Mercer is one of nine counties in the state with an AA bond rating. The county has 15 banks available to serve the financing needs of industry and commerce.

Among the other general highlights, the report notes the continuing expansion program of Public Service Electric and Gas company and the community of Princeton which "has become internationally famous as a center for research, education and cultural institutions".

News Of The Theatres

of a murder with which the law was unable to deal. As denials start, one member of the group dies by poisoning and a string of homicides follows.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Seven Little Foys (Aug. 3-6). The peals of laughter produced by this picture will probably disguise the fact that it's pretty junky. Bob Hope does a wonderful job as the vaudevillian. Eddie Foy and the picture's various song-and-dance sequences are a lot more satisfying than those featuring the brats in question. Milly Vitale is seen as Foy's Italian wife, and Jimmy Cagney appears for a brief George M. Cohan encore.

Land of the Pharaohs (Aug. 7-9) is right up there among the all-time eye-filling spectacles, with mighty scenes filmed in color and CinemaScope by Howard Hawks. There have been worse stories than the one on which these scenes are hung, and the treatment is partially documentary as Pharaoh Luxor (played by Britain's top star Jack Hawkins) carries out his great pyramid plan. Joan Collins appears as a scheming princess, while Dewey Martin, Kerima, Sydney Chaplin and thousands and thousands of extras also march across the screen. Take with some salt and you might enjoy it.

Mister Roberts (August 10-16) plays for a week. The well-known Broadway hit has been transferred to the screen with considerable success. Direction, pace and other matters cover up a number of faults, and the comedy remains high-spirited (albeit the language has been thoroughly scrubbed). Henry Fonda once again stars in the title role, while James Cagney plays the captain and Jack Lemon is Ensign Pulver and William Powell is Doc.

LAMBERTVILLE MUSIC CIRCUS

Producer St. John Terrell got caught short at the Music Circus in Lambertville when he couldn't hold the leads in "South Pacific," which was due for a bang-up third week. Rather than go with understudies, he re-instated the originally scheduled American premiere of "After the Ball."

The work is a musical adaption by Noel Coward of Oscar Wilde's famous comedy "Lady Windemere's Fan." The romantic story of England in the 1890's benefits from the handling of two master wits. Featured in the operetta at the Music Circus are Gloria Hamilton, Richard Smart, Eleanor Lutton, Eric Brotherson, Fred Harper, Doug Rogers and Cynthia Latham.

"After the Ball" this spring completed a year's run in various cities in Great Britain. Mr. Terrell obtained the American musical stock rights for five years and an option on a New York production. Mr. Terrell's press department reports that this is the third straight season in which he has offered a new production at his Lambertville tent.

FREUO, POSSIBLY?—Lawrenceville dog-catcher James J. Hewitt, shown above, has had a "psychological effect" on canines and their owners in Lawrence Township, Police Chief Joseph Stonicker reports. Since he was appointed to the post, after serving as a trainer with the Army K-9 Corps, complaints about stray dogs have dropped enormously, leading the chief to believe that people are taking better care of their pets. Chief Stonicker reminded dog-owners that there is a mandatory fine for allowing a dog to run loose, while any dog impounded with veterinarian Dr. Russell Edmonds must pay a fee for each day the doctor has the dog as well as an additional fine.
